

BOILERMAKER CONTRACTORS' ASSOCIATION OF CANADA

August 4, 2016

ANNOUNCEMENT

The Board of Directors of the Boilermaker Contractors' Association of Canada is pleased to announce recent additions to the BCA team.

Sara Scott has assumed the role of the Executive Director of the BCA, effective immediately, and will be responsible for the day-to-day operations of the Association including organization performance, strategic planning, corporate governance and communications. Sara has been working closely with the BCA Directors since December 2013 when she joined the BCA from her previous role as a CPA CA in public practice.

Marty Albright will be joining the BCA as the Director of Labour Relations effective August 22, 2016. Marty has extensive knowledge of the BCA and has participated in collective bargaining on behalf of the BCA for over 25 years. He has broad experience in labour relations including negotiations, contract administration and interpretation, grievance resolution and arbitration, health and safety compliance and advisory roles, and Boilermaker training initiatives. Marty has actively participated as a Trustee on several Boilermaker Trust Funds and Committees for many years. Additionally, Marty brings to the BCA his experience as a Boilermaker / Inter-Provincial Red Seal, which was obtained while working for various Boilermaker contractors in maintenance, construction and fabrication as a Pressure T.I.G. welder.

The Directors of the BCA are excited about working with both Sara Scott and Marty Albright to maintain a successful relationship with the International Brotherhood of Boilermakers while providing our members with the highest level of support in both labour relations and collective bargaining, along with ensuring the ongoing development of a strong and stable workforce for today and for the future.
